

IT'S THE TRUTH.

“Credit losses may be likened to deaths from typhoid fever. Both are preventable and taking proper precautions in each direction will greatly reduce the number. Since efficiency consists chiefly of eliminating waste, and since losses through bad credits are waste of the most obvious sort, it is apparent that the printers owe it to themselves to use whatever means are at hand for the purpose of improving conditions in this respect.”